Again the people under the proud flag of the United States are enjoying or given the right to enjoy a day of thanksgiving.

But in the vast domain of our great and free government what a contrast in the conditions of her people and the things to be thankful for. Here in dear old Crittenden, one of the proudest counties in the State, shown by statistics to be the richest mineral county in the United States, and the home of some of the greatest men and fairest women in Kentucky, we have a right to be thankful to God for his many blessings, that others, though just as deserving, do not enjoy. And yet they are thankful, are more so perhaps than we. Many who worshiped with us on this day a year ago, assisting in the singing, the prayer service, in making the Altar sweet with the fragrance of beautiful flowers or in the preparation of the good dinner, have passed through the valley of the shadow of death and are today, mingling their voices of praise with the numberless thousands in the Beautiful City, where the sun never goes down. And we can be thankful, we know them, that they were our associates and that it is our privilege to make life as pleasant for others as they made it for us and that ultimately we may go down through the same dark valley with the assurance that beyond all this darkness and gloom, the dawning of an endless day awaits us in the city of God, the beauty of which is but faintly portrayed in the vision of John on the Isle of Patmos.

There are doubtless causes in every home to be thankful if we but just hunt them up. The rich man can thank God that he is no richer and the poor man, that he is no poorer, the liberal man, that he has been shown opportunities to do good with the talents he has been entrusted with, the thriftless, that our rich country yields so bountifully that there is little excuse for want in the land, and the beggar and tramp, that there are so many good people and so few bull dogs. If we but learn to say from deep down in our hearts: "not my will but Thine be done" there is not a home in all this broad, free land of ours should not be able to send up a prayer of thanksgiving.

While the grief-stricken people of Cherry, Ill., are mourning their dead, every Christian home under the same flag, is mourning with them and too, with a sympathy that is making its self felt in the care and future comfort of the hundreds of newly made widows and fatherless children, and they have a cause to be thankful that at least, some of their loved ones were saved and that there were great loving, big hearted, brave men that went the limit, exemplifying what the Master meant when he said: "Greater love hath no man than this, that he lay down his life for his friend," when they went hundreds of feet into the bowels of the earth to rescue their perishing comrades. Truly such heroism and bravery on the part of this rescue is enough to cause prayers of thanksgiving to ascend to a throne of grace that can be felt and heard all over the known world.

We are living in a prosperous age and truly here at home we are enjoying prosperity and surely we are not blessed in all things above our neighbors. Our merchants, recognizing God's goodness to them, in closing their business houses to day for a few hours, do so with the assurance that He has been good to them.

Just this week and since writing the first lines of this article it comes to light that a great and inexhaustible fissure vein of zinc and lead has been found seven miles from Marion that has made the whole town and county glad and that runs into millions of dollars in value.

This effects the people of the whole county as well as our adjoining counties and today the step of every man, woman and child in Marion seems lighter and the songs of praise sweeter. It means a new era in our lives and in the enjoyment of it all nature seems to have put on a new dress, God knows how thankful we should feel and be for the loved ones he has given us along with these other great blessings and if we fail to open our hearts to Him in thankfulness for all of it we should not be worthy of His blessings.

On Wednesday of last week we were present at the organization in Louisville of the great Citizens National Life Insurance Company. This is not only the largest Insurance Company in the South, but in the United States as well.

Never in the history of our life have we seen a body of men, representing millions of dollars, that in so short a time, perfected an organization in which peace and harmony prevailed from start to finish.

In the election of the thirty-six directors, twelve to hold one year twelve two years and twelve three years, there was not a hitch nor a jar, and the consequence was that their selection was good, as all are well qualified representative Southern men. Mr. W. H. Gregory, who, as its president has made the Citizens Life the wonder of the South, was unanimously chosen as president of the new, Citizens National Life under whose management every subscriber of stock has unlimited confidence.

Dr. R. L. Moore, of Marion, was wisely chosen as one of the directors.
Some thirty thousand dollars of the stock of the new company, was written in this county by Mr. A. P.
Cunningham, of Jacksonville, Fla., more than two thousand dollars of it taken in Tolu, Mr. Cunningham has made many warm friends here for himself as well as the company, and as soon as the new organization asks for business, it will be hard to find men who can be persuaded to send money out of the State as in the past.

To-day begins a new year. The date on the calendar does not matter. The earth starts every morning on its year-long journey around the sun as truly as on the first day of January, and each new dawn is therefore a fresh opportunity to begin right. It is for us to determine what the year shall be. The demand upon us is not that we succeed, but only that we try; and to try manfully every day and all day long, is inevitably to attain in the end a supreme success.—Youth's Companion.

Every available space has been used in the yards of the I. C. railroad the past few weeks in the loading of floor spar, lead ore, logs, lumber, heading, flour, grain, hay, hogs and cattle. While this bespeaks the prosperous condition of our town and county, it is small in comparison to what it should be and in fact will be in the next few years.

Those that fail to hear Dr. Byron W. King at the school auditorium Saturday night will miss a treat, the comments in our possession from the greatest town in every state, he is evidently one of the highest class entertainers you will have an opportunity to hear.

J. Blanton Wiggins, of the county but for some time past in Tennessee, is now the regular, valuable employee of Walter Mc Connell in his popular barber shop.

Visitors From Sturgis.

George Simpson, Carroll Welch and James Simpson and wife, of Sturgis, attended services at the Cumberland Presbyterian church here Sunday.

James E. Simpson and wife were guests of J. D. Asher and family this week.

G. B. Simpson and Carroll Welch were guests of W. D. Cannon and family.

Miss Pearl Doss Badly Burned at Madisonville.

Just as we were going to press Mr. C. E. Doss received a telegram from Madisonville, apprising him of the very serious and perhaps, fatal burning of his daughter, Miss Pearl, who had but yesterday, left Marion to spend Thanksgiving with her sister, Mrs. Tom Hearn.

The message stated Miss Pearl was standing with her back to the fire when a puff of wind blew the flames out of the grate, igniting her clothing and at once her whole body was enveloped in flames. Three of the best physicians to be had were battling against death at the last message. Her father and brother left at once on the first train. They have the sympathy of every one in this their great grief.

The Tennessee Wagon Is The Best.
